

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A control panel of other electronic interface comprises an interior trim component having a touch pad and a target area associated with the touch pad. A non-5 movable switch is located behind the target area. The switch is operable to actuate and de-actuate an electrically operated device of the motor vehicle. The target area is associated with a sensitive operating portion or region of the switch.